IDLI-SAMBAR COULD REALLY 'BREAK' THE ICE?

The highly publicized breakfast meeting between Siddu and DKS appeared to merely 'melt' the ice, as both leaders indicated that the 'next move' is now up to the Congress high command.

We both just had breakfast and decided that whatever decision the high command takes, both of us will obey. There are no differences between DK Shivakumar and me...Some media reporters have created the confusion. They (BJP and JDS) are saying that no no-confidence motion will be moved. We will face it.

—Siddaramaiah, Chief Minister

As far as the leadership issue is concerned, we follow our party high command. Whatever they say, it is our decision. We have been loyal soldiers of the party. Today, we discussed our strategy for the 2028 assembly elections and how to deal with the opposition. They may try to raise many issues. We are prepared to respond...

— DK Shivakumar, Deputy Chief

You can see what is happening in Karnataka, in Bengaluru... Nothing will happen. The Congress will be united as always. They are together now in Bengaluru

— KC Venugopal, Congress MP

BREAKFAST OVER! WHAT NEXT?

Bengaluru

The much-watched breakfast meeting between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and DyCM DK Shivakumar has reportedly failed to break the political ice with both leaders stating that the issue now rests with the Congress high command. Though they claim to have decided to present a united face before the state people, both the leaders stated that they will "move together as per the high command's directions".

It's just a break meeting: Ashoka

Opposition Leader in the Assembly R Ashoka, however, mocked the breakfast meet, saying the meeting had no significance. Calling it a "break meeting, not a breakfast meeting," he claimed the Congress high command was not bothered. "Nothing will come out of this. The CM will not step down, and Shivakumar will not stop trying."

BENGALURU

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy D K Shivakumar on Saturday sought to project a united front after days of uncertainty over a possible change of guard in Karnataka.

After an hour-long breakfast over idli-sambar and upma at the CM's residence 'Kaveri' on Saturday morning, both the leaders signaled a truce in their power struggle and put up a show of unity, saying any decision regarding a change of guard would be taken by the Congress high command.

Addressing a joint press conference, Siddaramaiah dismissed reports of rifts within the Congress, insisting there was "no confusion" in the government or the party.

"As far as I know, some MLAs want to become ministers, so they might have gone to meet the high command.

That does not mean they are against the leadership," he said, adding that several legislators had already explained to him why they travelled to Delhi. On the breakfast meeting, the CM said they both "just had breakfast" after Congress general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal asked him to invite DK Shivakumar and AS Ponnanna (CM's legal advisor).

'We have no differences'

Reiterating that both he and Shivakumar would abide by the party high command's decisions, Siddaramaiah said, "We have decided that we will follow whatever the high command says. There will be no confusion from tomorrow. There is no confusion even now. Some media reporters have created the confusion."

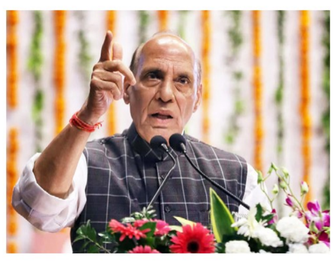
"The winter session will begin in Belagavi from December 8. We have faced the opposition effectively and will continue to face them," he said.

'BJP-JD(S) spreading false allegations'

Taking aim at the Opposition, the CM said the BJP and JD(S) were spreading "false allegations" and making empty claims about moving a no-confidence motion. "They are only 60 and the JD(S) is 18. They cannot match our numbers. We are 140. This is a futile exercise. We will counter their false allegations effectively. We have formulated the necessary strategies for that," he said.

Op Sindoor brilliant example of civil-military fusion: Rajnath Singh

NEW DELHI



'Civil servants should understand their crucial role in safeguarding national interests akin to brave soldiers'

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said on Saturday said Operation Sindoor is a "brilliant example" of civil-military fusion, where the administrative machinery worked seamlessly with the armed forces to communicate vital information and build public confidence.

He was addressing the valedictory ceremony of the 100th Common Foundation Course at the Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration (LBSNAA) in Uttarakhand's Mussoorie.

Singh called upon young civil servants to understand their crucial role in safeguarding national interests akin to brave soldiers who always stay ready for such critical situations. He asserted that during Operation Sindoor, the armed forces destroyed the terror camps in Pakistan and PoK in a "balanced and non-escalatory response, but it was the misbehaviour of the neighbouring country which did not allow the situation along the border to return to normal."

While he commended the bravery of the soldiers, he lauded the work carried out by the administrative officers as they communicated crucial information and ensured successful conduct of mock drills across the country.

SL declares emergency as Cyclone Ditwah toll hits 132

TN, AP on high alert, schools shut

CHENNAI: The city and its neighbouring regions received heavy rainfall on Saturday evening, even as the state government announced measures are afoot to meet any evantualities arising out of the storm. Cyclonic storm Ditwah also brought heavy rains to the Cauvery delta districts, as well as coastal districts, such as Ramanathapuram. A red alert has been issued for the north Tamil Nadu, Puducherry, and south Andhra Pradesh coasts.

COLOMBO

Sri Lanka declared a state of emergency on Saturday and appealed for international assistance as the death toll from heavy rains and floods triggered by Cyclone Ditwah rose to 132, with another 176 reported missing.

The extreme weather system has destroyed more than 15,000 homes, sending 78,000 people to state-run temporary shelters, the Disaster Management Centre (DMC) said.

President Anura Kumara Dissanayake invoked emergency laws, granting him sweeping powers to deal with the devastation after a week of torrential rain across the island.

"We have 132 confirmed dead and another 176 missing," DMC Director-General Sampath Kotuwegoda said, adding that relief efforts had been bolstered with the deployment of the army, navy and air force.

Officials said about a third of the country was without electricity and running water.

SOMEBODY WANTS ME AS CM: GP THROWS HAT IN RING

Bengaluru: Even as Chief Minister Siddaramiah and his Deputy DK Shivakumar held a breakfast meeting to resolve the states leadership crisis, Home Minister G Parameshwara threw his hat in the ring claiming that some people even wanted to see him as CM and that it is up to the Congress high command. On the DKS-Siddu tussle, he said, "...Somebody wants Shivakumar as CM, somebody wants Siddaramaiah to continue, and somebody wants me to be the CM. So you cannot stop the aspirations of the people," he said.

'BOTH LEADERS SAID 'NO TALK OF POWER SHARING'

Bengaluru: Congress leader DK Suresh has put to rest speculation about a power tussle within the party, saying Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar are committed to fulfilling their promises to the people. Welcoming the CM-DyCM meeting over breakfast, he said, "There were no talks on power sharing as both leaders clearly stated, so the issue doesn't need to be discussed." "It's their duty as well, because they have promised the people of the state and they have to walk the talk, I'm sure CM and DCM will fulfil their promises," he said.

United over breakfast, but divided as a whole: JD(S) MLA

Bengaluru: JD(S) MLA Nikhil Kumaraswamy on Saturday launched a sharp attack on the ruling Congress in Karnataka, alleging that the party's ongoing leadership tussle has come at the cost of governance and public welfare. "Today, the Congress is serving idlis. They are united over breakfast, but, unfortunately, the party is divided as a whole. The people of Karnataka are suffering because of this instability," he said.

'High command needs to step in to even serve snacks in Cong!'

Bengaluru: Even as the Congress makes an effort to portray an image of unity amidst a leadership row, the JD(S) olaunched a scathing attack, stating, "The high command needs to step in to even serve snacks in Congress! @INCIndia. The @INCKarnataka government, which came to power by giving false promises of providing good governance to the state and deceiving the people, has already split into factions for the sake of the chair in just 2.5 years. For the sake of power, they are feeding their herd of rival-turned-friendly MLAs and keeping an eye on them like hawks from dawn."

BENGALURU

Investigators found traders buying goods without bills, selling without invoices, inflating bills for contractors, and selling directly to consumers, revealing a complex tax evasion network

Bengaluru's Commercial Tax Department has uncovered hidden transactions worth Rs 100 crore in a major crackdown on tax evasion, officials said. The Enforcement Division (South Zone) carried out more than 500 inspections across Chikkapet, Avenue Road, BVK Iyengar Road, J.C. Road, and S.P. Road in the city's central zone.

Investigators found that traders were buying goods such as electronics, auto parts, gift items, dry fruits, iron, cement, and hardware from Delhi and other regions without bills, and selling them without issuing proper tax invoices. Many traders were inflating bills to help contractors claim input tax, while goods were directly sold to end consumers, exposing a complex tax evasion network.

Officials also discovered businesses operating without GST registration despite taxable turnover exceeding Rs 40 lakh. Such traders have been warned and instructed to register under GST immediately.

In addition, strict monitoring of railway freight revealed nearly 1,000 bags of gutka, pan masala, and dry fruits being transported without proper documents at Yeshwantpur railway station.

Around 75 goods vehicles carrying iron scrap without valid tax bills were also seized.

"The operation has exposed extensive tax evasion, with local traders concealing transactions and misusing invoices. Investigations, document verification, and data analysis are ongoing," the Commercial Tax Department said.

Authorities emphasized that strict legal action will be taken against all those found violating tax laws, including issuing false bills or evading GST, to ensure compliance and protect government revenue.

Priyank Kharge flags funding shortfall for Jal Jeevan Mission

Kharge highlighted Karnataka's ₹11,050 cr support for the mission and urged central authorities to release funds promptly for uninterrupted project progress

BENGALURU

Karnataka Minister Priyank Kharge has raised concerns over insufficient central funding for the Jal Jeevan Mission (JJM), warning it could delay or halt ongoing water supply works. In a letter to Union Jal Shakti Minister C.R. Patil, Kharge highlighted a significant shortfall in central contributions to the project.

The total financial outlay for the JJM in Karnataka is Rs 35,698.58 crore, of which the state has contributed Rs 24,598.45 crore, while the central government's share stands at only Rs 11,786.63 crore. Despite timely state allocations of Rs 1,500 crore this fiscal year, no funds have yet been released by the Union Government, Kharge noted.

The letter stressed that continuous support from the central government is vital to maintain project momentum. Pending payments amount to Rs 1,700 crore, with another Rs 2,600 crore in the pipeline. Some contractors have already reduced staff due to delayed payments, affecting progress on key works.

Kharge underscored that Karnataka has proactively supported the mission through budget allocations, releasing Rs 11,050 crore this financial year alone to prevent work stoppages. He urged the central authorities to expedite the release of funds so that ongoing projects continue smoothly and deadlines are met.

The minister emphasized that timely funding is crucial to ensure the Jal Jeevan Mission achieves its goal of providing safe and reliable drinking water to all households across the state. The letter appeals to the Union Government to act promptly, allowing Karnataka to sustain the pace of development and meet the needs of its citizens.

'Congress is united only for breakfast, divided elsewhere'

BENGALURU

JD(S) MLA Nikhil Kumaraswamy on Saturday launched a sharp critique of the ruling Congress in Karnataka, calling out its leadership tensions and poor governance. His comments came after Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar held a high-profile breakfast meeting to ease party differences.

Mocking the event, Kumaraswamy said, "Today, the Congress is serving idlis. They are united over breakfast, but the party is divided as a whole. The people of Karnataka are suffering because of this instability." He claimed that despite winning 136 seats, Congress had delivered on only nine of the 540 pre-poll promises, even as the state carries a debt of ₹3 lakh crore.

He raised concerns over pressing issues such as distress in Kalyana Karnataka and insufficient support for farmers during heavy rains. "Thousands of issues need attention, but instead we are discussing leadership quarrels," he said.

The JD(S) leader also highlighted Bengaluru's deteriorating infrastructure. "From the past year, all we've been saying is: someone please close the potholes. Even the BBMP admits 10,000-15,000 potholes have been registered," he noted. He warned that poor urban conditions were driving major companies away and adding to commuting difficulties.

Actor Darshan faces stricter jail rules, restricted privileges enforced

BENGALURU

Darshan, the inmate at a Bengaluru jail, is now facing tougher restrictions following a change in prison rules. The jail administration, under newly appointed superintendent Anshukumar, has ended the privilege of eating meals inside the barracks. Like all other inmates, Darshan must now stand in a queue to receive his food.

The new measures aim to prevent theft and ensure that all prisoners follow the same rules. Darshan, who had long enjoyed the convenience of eating in the barracks, must now leave the barracks for meals and return afterward.

In addition, his walking time has been reduced for security reasons. He is now allowed only limited time to wash and dry his clothes. Other privileges he previously had have also been curtailed, leaving him with little free time.

These stricter routines have drawn attention to the conditions inside the jail and raised questions about how Darshan will respond in court. Observers are curious about the impact of these new restrictions on him and whether he will highlight these hardships in his upcoming hearings.

BENGALURU

Former MP and Bamul President DK Suresh clarified that his recent remarks have been misrepresented in the media. Speaking to reporters in Delhi, he said, "What I said was different, my statement has been distorted. You are showing something different than what I actually said."

Suresh emphasized that he did not wish to comment further after the Chief Minister (CM) and Deputy Chief Minister (DCM) held a meeting. "I have nothing to say after the CM and DCM met. It is their duty to meet and show unity. They have given their word to the people of the state, and they will act accordingly," he said. He added that he came to Delhi for a private program and hoped to meet senior party leaders if time allowed. "Since it is Saturday and Sunday, the meeting is doubtful. The high command has said they will meet if possible," he explained.

The senior Congress leader also referred to recent reports about CM-DCM unity, clarifying that he respects the process and does not want to make any personal comments at this stage. Suresh's statement comes amid ongoing political discussions within the party, following public attention on the relationship between state leaders.

He stressed the importance of following party protocols and avoiding personal interpretations of his remarks. Suresh reaffirmed that his position aligns with the party's direction and that he intends to meet party seniors to discuss matters privately.

His clarification is seen as an effort to avoid further misreporting and maintain internal party cohesion ahead of upcoming meetings and political planning.

BENGALURU

The Karnataka High Court has declared K.N. Shanth Kumar's nomination papers valid for the post of president of the Karnataka State Cricket Association (KSCA), setting the stage for a contest against former cricketer Venkatesh Prasad.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order on Saturday, overturning the November 24 decision of the Electoral Officer (EO) that had rejected Kumar's papers. The EO had cited arrears of ₹200 from the Deccan Herald & Prajavani (DH&PV) Sports Club, which Kumar represents as an institutional member.

Kumar had argued that the dues were cleared before the scrutiny of his nomination, making him eligible under KSCA bye-laws, which only bar members in arrears from contesting.

The rejection of Kumar's nomination had earlier paved the way for Prasad's unanimous election, especially after Kalpana Venkatachar, the third contestant, withdrew in Prasad's support. With the court's order, elections for the KSCA president will now proceed as per the previously scheduled calendar, with voting set for December 7. The EO has been directed to publish the final list of candidates by 3 p.m. on November 29.

During the hearings, the court considered video evidence of the scrutiny process and verified that the dues were paid before the review. The KSCA CEO noted that arrears lists could not be shared with members before the election process began, which contributed to the confusion.

Citywide cleaning drive strengthens B'luru's hygiene

BENGALURU

A large mass-cleaning drive was carried out on Saturday across six assembly constituencies under the Bengaluru Central Municipal Corporation. The operation began at 6 a.m., and Commissioner Rajendra Cholan personally inspected the work at 7 a.m. while visiting Double Road, 100 Feet Road in Indiranagar, and St. John Road in Shivajinagar. He said that such cleaning drives are important for maintaining a healthy city and asked all officials to continue taking strong action.

A total of 538 civic workers cleaned 17.3 kilometers of roads, removing waste and clearing clutter across busy areas. To support the work, 48 tractors and 7 JCB machines were deployed. Together, they removed 52 loads of waste, cleared 19 black spots, and removed 14 pedestrian encroachments. Many unused stalls, pushcarts, abandoned vehicles, and items left on pavements were identified and cleared based on the Commissioner's instructions.

During his inspection in Indiranagar, the Commissioner also noticed a vacant site filled with heavy waste. He directed officials to clean the location immediately and issue a fine to the property owner for failing to maintain the space.

Showing concern and respect for the civic and sanitation staff, Rajendra Cholan spent time speaking with workers about their daily challenges. He asked officials to ensure that all grievances raised by the workers are resolved quickly.

The Bengaluru Central Municipal Corporation said that today's cleaning effort is part of a larger plan to maintain cleaner neighborhoods and reduce health hazards. Officials added that regular monitoring, stricter action on violations, and community cooperation are important to keeping Bengaluru clean and safe.

K'taka leaders criticize internal fight in Congress

BENGALURU

Karnataka's opposition leaders on Saturday criticised the ruling Congress for what they called a distracting and damaging leadership tussle, arguing that the ongoing power struggle has sidelined governance. Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council, Chalavadi Narayanaswamy, said citizens are bearing the brunt of the party's internal conflict. "Leadership change is their party's problem. People gave Congress a five-year mandate, yet there is no development. Farmers are in distress, Dalits feel neglected, and no one outside the Congress cares about their internal issues," he remarked.

Echoing this view, BJP Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly, R. Ashoka, alleged a severe lack of coordination between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar. According to him, confusion over "who is actually running the state" has resulted in ministers staying away from Vidhana Soudha, while some MLAs remain in Delhi or at resorts in Bengaluru. He added that the NDA is holding a joint meeting with JD(S) amid speculation of a possible confidence vote in the upcoming assembly session.

Meanwhile, Congress leaders held a breakfast meeting to calm tensions, even as Shivakumar prepares to visit Delhi to push for the alleged 2023 "secret agreement" that would make him Chief Minister after 2.5 years. Observers say the escalating dispute continues to divert attention from key governance issues.

B'luru Metro Pink Line gets safety doors

BENGALURU

Bengaluru's Namma Metro is set to install platform screen doors (PSDs) for the first time, starting with stations on the upcoming Pink Line, aiming to improve passenger safety and operational efficiency. A full-scale prototype has been installed at MG Road station for testing before citywide rollout.

The automated doors, supplied by Panasonic, open only when trains halt in the correct position, preventing accidental falls and track intrusions—a growing safety concern in recent months. In underground stations, PSDs also help improve ventilation by limiting air exchange between platforms and tunnels. Each door unit will measure about 2.15 metres tall, while platform gates will stand 1.4 metres high, covering the entire 128-metre platform. The estimated cost per station is ₹9 crore.

Civil work along the 21.26-km Kalena Agrahara–Nagawara corridor is nearing completion, and track-laying along with key system installation, including PSDs, has already begun. Once approved, the doors will be installed across all 12 underground stations on the Pink Line over six months.

This initiative is part of a larger contract awarded in June 2024 to Alstom Transport, valued at 96.2 million Euros, for a Communications Based Train Control (CBTC) signalling system. The contract also includes PSDs for the Blue Line's airport terminal station and platform gates at Airport City station. BMRCL plans to add PSDs at Majestic and Central College stations on the Purple Line, while Konappana Agrahara station will get platform gates, funded by the Infosys Foundation.

POWER TUSSLE

HD Kumaraswamy slams caste politics in Karnataka

BENGALURU

Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy criticized ongoing caste-based politics and the Congress leadership tussle in Karnataka, saying it harms the state and not the party. Speaking to the media at a private hotel, he emphasized that he never sought help from religious leaders during his tenure as Chief Minister.

"I became CM twice. I did not ask for help from the matadhis when I lost power. I am not talking about the Vokkaliga community or any other community," HDK said. He stressed that politicizing caste and misusing religious spaces damages societal harmony. "This is not a loss for the party. It is a loss for the state. It creates conflict between communities," he added.

Criticizing the Congress leadership, HDK said the ongoing breakfast meeting between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar is a "drama," and the focus on the Chief Minister's chair overlooks the people's welfare. "What has been done in the last two and a half years? Are they concerned about the hardships of the people? No. They are only discussing power," he said.

On Siddaramaiah's future as CM, HD Kumaraswamy said he will accept the high command's decision but warned against misleading the public. "Don't fool the people.

Let the people be at peace. How many will go crazy watching this drama?"

Observers say HDK's remarks highlight growing frustration over the political instability in Karnataka, which has overshadowed governance and intensified divisions along caste lines.

HDK criticized Congress, calling the CM-DCM breakfast meeting a "drama" focused on power, ignoring people's welfare and hardships over the past two and a half years

Backward classes are Cong's greatest strength: Bangarappa

Minister Bangarappa asserted that Backward Classes form the Congress party's strongest support base, urging strengthened organizational efforts

SHIVAMOGGA

Minister in charge of Shivamogga district, Madhu Bangarappa, emphasized that the Backward Classes (OBC community) form the greatest strength of the Congress party. He was speaking at the district Congress office during an event organized by the District Backward Classes Wing to distribute appointment letters to newly selected block presidents and district office-bearers.

He stated that the Backward Classes organization needs to grow stronger and contribute more power to the party. In this context, appointments have been made across various units of the Backward Classes wing in the district, and the official orders were handed over during the event. He urged the newly appointed members to serve with sincerity and help strengthen the party at all levels. Organization is crucial, he added, calling on them to ensure that government schemes and benefits reach the people effectively.

Bangarappa pointed out that major challenges lie ahead, including upcoming local body elections. This increases the responsibility of party workers, who must begin preparing through strong organizational work. Efforts must be directed toward earning goodwill for the government. He stressed prioritizing education and encouraged unity in reinforcing the party's base.

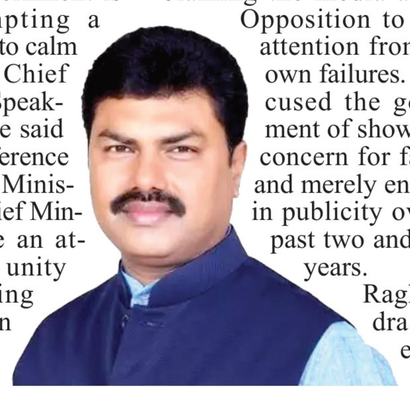
District Backward Classes President Ramesh Shankaraghatta, in his introductory remarks, said this was a memorable moment for the community. He urged that appointment letters should not merely serve as visiting cards; rather, each member should commit to strengthening the party, ensuring better contributions from the Backward Classes wing in the coming days.

Legislative Council member Balkheesh noted that appointments come with greater responsibilities. Those selected must understand their roles and cultivate a spirit of secularism, she said.

District Congress President Prasannakumar presided over the program, which was attended by several senior leaders and party workers.

Major political shake-up awaits Cong, says MP Raghavendra

SHIVAMOGGA



Criticizing the ongoing political turmoil in Karnataka, MP B.Y. Raghavendra remarked that the state government is currently attempting a "temporary stunt" to calm the battle for the Chief Minister's chair. Speaking to reporters, he said that the press conference held by the Chief Minister and Deputy Chief Minister seemed like an attempt to project unity until the upcoming Assembly session concludes.

He alleged that a major political "operation" awaits the Congress government once the session ends. According to him, the CM and DCM are blaming the media and the Opposition to divert attention from their own failures. He accused the government of showing no concern for farmers and merely engaging in publicity over the past two and a half years.

Raghavendra pointed out that farmers' struggles, including the ongoing sugarcane crisis, are well known to the public. Despite the start of the maize harvest, the government has failed to open procurement centers and instead continues to shift responsibility onto the Union government. He described this as unfortunate for the people of Karnataka.

He also mentioned that Union Steel and Heavy Industries Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy will be visiting Bhadravati–Shivamogga to revive the VISL plant, calling it welcome news for the region.

Husband jailed for killing wife; two children left orphaned

A tragic incident in Chikkaballapur district has left two young children orphaned after a love marriage ended in a brutal crime. Balu, a driver from Gerigereddypalya in Chelur taluk, had fallen in love with Dilshath, a woman from another community. Despite strong parental opposition, the couple married four years ago, with Dilshath later adopting the name Kavitha. Their life initially seemed peaceful, and they were blessed with two daughters.

However, over time, Balu became increasingly suspicious of his wife, alleging that she was speaking to someone frequently over the phone and behaving intimately with others. This suspicion led to repeated arguments between the couple. On the day of the incident, Balu returned home from work and confronted his wife again, accusing her of being involved with someone else. The quarrel escalated quickly into a violent fight.

In a fit of rage, Balu picked up a metal rod lying in the house and struck Kavitha forcefully on the head. The blow caused severe bleeding. Though Balu attempted to take her to the hospital, doctors declared her dead on arrival.

Chelur police have registered a case and arrested Balu. With the mother dead and the father in jail, the couple's two innocent daughters have been left with no one to care for them. The children, unaware of the tragedy around them, now face a future without both parents—a heartbreaking consequence of anger and mistrust.

He also urged the state government to fulfill its earlier pledge of increasing the milk incentive from Rs 5 to Rs 7 per liter. NIA probes Delhi blasts, questions foreign-trained doctors

New Delhi

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) is expanding its probe into the Delhi Red Fort blasts. The agencies are not just questioning the doctors who are part of the Al Falah University, but also trying to ascertain if those part of the Faridabad module were in touch with MMBS graduates who studied in other countries. Investigators say that the Faridabad module members who executed the Delhi blasts were in touch with those who had studied MBBS in other countries, such as the United Arab Emirates and Bangladesh. Further, the agencies have also sought details of doctors working in multiple private hospitals in Delhi.

Raisen minor rape accused sent to 14-day custody

Bhopal

The accused in the minor rape case in Madhya Pradesh's Raisen district has been sent to 14-day judicial custody till December 11. The accused, 23-year-old Salman, was produced before a judicial magistrate inside the high-security ward of Hamidia Hospital in Bhopal on Friday. Unable to be transported to the regular courtroom due to a gunshot injury in his right leg, the magistrate personally visited the hospital and conducted the remand proceedings at the accused's bedside. Heavy police deployment has been stationed both inside and outside the hospital to prevent any untoward incident. Salman was dramatically arrested exactly 144 hours after committing the crime.

Kerala HC to review 'Haal' before appeal verdict

Kochi

The Kerala High Court on Saturday agreed to watch the Malayalam film 'Haal', before deciding on a writ appeal filed by the Catholic Congress challenging the Single Judge's order that quashed the A-certificate and cuts imposed on the movie by the Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC). The Division Bench, comprising Justice Sushrut Arvind Dharmadhikari and Justice P.V. Balakrishnan, said that if no objectionable content is found, exemplary costs may be imposed on the appellant. The Bench noted that the Single Judge had already watched the movie last month before ruling in favour of the filmmakers.

Seven convicted in ₹7.83 cr Bank of Baroda fraud case

A Punjab CBI court convicted seven individuals for siphoning Bank of Baroda funds, causing losses exceeding seven cr rupees.

CHANDIGARH

A Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) special court in Punjab on Saturday convicted and sentenced seven people in connection with the ₹7.83 crore Bank of Baroda fraud case, the agency announced. The verdict marks a significant step in the long-running investigation into fraudulent financial activities involving bank officials and private individuals.

The SAS Nagar court sentenced Manish Jain and Ramesh Kumar Jain — partners of Manish Traders — to three years of rigorous imprisonment and imposed a fine of ₹35,000 each. According to the CBI, the duo colluded with certain bank officials to siphon off funds, causing a wrongful loss of ₹7.83 crore to the public sector bank.

The verdict sends a clear message against financial crime and underscores our commitment to prosecuting those who defraud public sector banks, a CBI spokesperson said following the judgment.

Five additional accused — Rachna Jain, Bhupinder Singh, Pritpal Singh, Sanjeev Kumar Jain and Anita Jain — were also sentenced to three years in prison, each receiving a fine of ₹15,000 for their roles in the conspiracy.

The case was originally registered by the CBI on November 4, 2016, after Bank of Baroda filed a complaint identifying partners of Manish Traders — including Ramesh Kumar Jain, Manish Jain and Kanta Jain — as well as unnamed bank officials as suspects.

During the investigation, the agency uncovered evidence showing that the partners of Manish Traders, with the assistance of certain officials within the bank, fraudulently diverted funds, resulting in substantial financial losses to Bank of Baroda. The CBI said the coordinated efforts of the accused enabled the large-scale misappropriation, prompting the court's firm stance in delivering the convictions.

The sentencing brings closure to nearly eight years of investigation and legal proceedings and reinforces the CBI's ongoing efforts to curb corruption and financial fraud within the banking sector.

Cyclone Ditwah disrupts life along Ramanathapuram coast

CHENNAI

The advancing Cyclone Ditwah crippled normal life along Tamil Nadu's Ramanathapuram coast on Saturday, triggering high tides, heavy winds and persistent rainfall that damaged infrastructure, disrupted transport and forced evacuations across vulnerable coastal settlements.

With wind speeds reaching 65–70 kmph, Southern Railway suspended all train operations on the Pamban sea bridge as a precautionary measure. Trains from Chennai, Kanyakumari and Madurai bound for Rameswaram were halted at Mandapam, where state-run buses were arranged to ferry passengers to the island. Services originating from Rameswaram will also operate from Mandapam until conditions stabilise. Railway authorities emphasised that operations across the sea bridge will resume only after wind speeds drop below danger levels to ensure structural safety.

Cyclone Ditwah's strong winds and high tides battered Tamil Nadu's Ramanathapuram coast, disrupting travel and damaging fishing infrastructure extensively.

Across Rameswaram, Mandapam and Pamban, uninterrupted rain and fierce gusts pounded the coast, leaving fishermen struggling to protect their vessels from the rough seas. The district recorded an average of 2 cm of rainfall by Friday afternoon. In Rameswaram harbour, one mechanised fishing boat broke free from its anchor and drifted ashore at Serankottai as waves surged. Coastal erosion intensified across vulnerable stretches, pulling several country boats into the turbulent waters. Fishermen braved hazardous conditions to retrieve drifting vessels and secure them.

District Collector Simranjeet Singh Kahlon, who inspected preparedness measures in the affected fishing hamlets, said that although rainfall levels remained moderate, the strong winds continued to pose a major threat. The coastal areas are witnessing winds of 50–70 kmph. Considering safety, about 40 residents from the fishing settlement in Dhanushkodi have been relocated to the government school in Rameswaram, he said.

Authorities remain on high alert as Cyclone Ditwah continues to impact the region, with precautionary measures underway to safeguard lives, fishing assets and critical infrastructure.

Air travel faces major global disruption after regulators ordered urgent software updates for Airbus A320 jets over radiation-related safety concerns

Airbus A320 software update triggers worldwide travel disruptions

NEW DELHI

Air travel across India and several other countries is expected to face significant disruption this weekend after global aviation regulators issued urgent directives mandating immediate software updates for the Airbus A320 family of aircraft. The move follows growing concerns that increased solar radiation may interfere with critical flight control systems, prompting what experts are calling a major aviation crisis.

Aviation expert Subhash Goyal said the scope of the issue was unprecedented, affecting airlines worldwide. There are over 6,000 Airbus A320 aircraft worldwide that could be affected, with around 250 in India. For the newer models, software updates take 2–3 hours, but for older A320s, updates may take 1–2 days. This is an air crisis which will affect both tourism and business trades, he warned.

Goyal explained that the alarm was raised after an incident involving a mid-air pitch-down on an Airbus A320. This crisis suddenly arose because when an Airbus 320 was coming in, it suddenly went down mid-air. It is said that extra radiation is causing hits due to which these problems come. The ELAC system, when an aircraft switches over, can get affected, he noted, referring to the Elevator Aileron Computer (ELAC) — a crucial component that manages flight control surfaces.

Echoing the concern, aviation expert Sanat Kaul highlighted that Airbus has explicitly instructed airlines to upgrade onboard systems without delay. Airbus has stated that their software needs to be upgraded; otherwise, it could get damaged. The damage could affect either software or hardware, which is why they have instructed that all their airplanes undergo the software update, Kaul said. The sweeping global action follows a safety investigation into a JetBlue flight on October 30.

All-party meeting tomorrow, will listen to everyone there: Kiren Rijiju

NEW DELHI

Ahead of the upcoming Winter Session of Parliament, Union Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju on Saturday said that an all-party meeting will be held on Sunday where the government will listen to all political parties.

Kiren Rijiju said, There is an all-party meeting tomorrow, and we will listen to everyone there. As for the bulletins that mention parliamentary etiquette, every Member is aware of it.

The government will convene the all-party meeting on Sunday ahead of the Winter Session of Parliament, beginning Monday. Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju will meet the floor leaders of political parties from both Houses of Parliament during the meeting.

During the meeting, the government will seek cooperation from all political parties to ensure the smooth functioning of the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha during the session. The Winter Session will be held from December 1 to December 19. Several important legislations are scheduled to be taken up for discussion and passage during this period.

The government intends to begin the Winter Session with a full-day discussion on 'Vande Mataram' as the nation marks 150 years of the national song. The focus will be on the complete recitation of the song, following Prime Minister Narendra Modi's remarks that the removal of significant verses in 1937 played a role in the Partition of India.

In 1937, significant verses of 'Vande Mataram', the very essence of its spirit, were removed. Stanzas of the song were broken up. This removal sowed the seeds for the eventual Partition of the country. Today's generation needs to understand why such injustice was committed against this great mantra of nation-building, because that same divisive mindset continues to pose a major challenge even today, the Prime Minister had said on November 7.

The government is also planning to introduce 10 key Bills during the session, including those related to nuclear energy, higher education, corporate law, and the securities market.

Army JCO dies of heart attack in J&K's Poonch

JAMMU

A junior commissioned officer (JCO) of the army died of a heart attack on Saturday in Jammu and Kashmir's Poonch district. Officials said that an army JCO posted in the Khari area of Poonch district passed away after suffering a heart attack today.

The deceased officer has been identified as Captain (Ordinary) Talib Hussain, currently deployed at a post in Khari under the jurisdiction of Police Station Poonch in Haveli tehsil.

The officer reportedly suffered a massive heart attack at the post, resulting in his on-spot death.

Police have taken cognisance of the incident, and further investigation is now underway, officials said.

Jammu and Kashmir has a 740-km-long line of control (LoC) and a 240-km-long international border. The LoC is guarded by the Army and situated in the Baramulla, Bandipora, Kupwara districts of the Valley and in Poonch, Rajouri and partly in the Jammu district of the Jammu division. The international border is guarded by the Border Security Force (BSF) and is situated in Jammu, Samba and Kathua districts of Jammu division.

The army and the BSF guard against infiltration of terrorists, cross-border smuggling and drone activity initiated by terror outfit from across the border with the help of the Pakistan Army. The Jammu and Kashmir Police and the security forces are deployed on anti-terrorist duties in the hinterland.

In their revised strategy, police and the security forces target terrorists, their over ground workers (OGWs), sympathisers, drug smugglers and those involved in hawala money rackets and other unlawful financial activities. It is believed that the funds generated from these unlawful activities are finally used to sustain terrorism in J&K.

Kerala LoP Satheesan accuses CPI(M) of shielding criminals

KANNUR

Leader of the Opposition in the Kerala Assembly, V.D. Satheesan, on Saturday defended the Congress's handling of the complaint against suspended MLA Rahul Mamkootathil, while launching a sharp attack on the ruling CPI(M) for protecting criminals and those involved in serious offences. Satheesan said the Kerala Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) had already taken organisational action against Mamkootathil and clarified its stand after internal consultations.

One cannot take punitive action twice for the same issue. The KPCC president has clearly explained the party's position after consultations. That is the collective stand of the Congress, he said.

He accused the CPI(M) of attempting to exploit the issue to divert attention from the Sabarimala gold theft case.

We will not fall into that trap. Two former presidents of the Travancore Devaswom Board were jailed in connection with the theft of Ayyappa's gold, yet the CPI(M) has taken no action against them, Satheesan alleged.

He further criticised the CPI(M) for fielding a candidate convicted in a case involving a bomb attack on a police vehicle in Payyannur.

The court found him guilty of attempting to kill police personnel and sentenced him to 20 years in prison. Still, the CPI(M) is protecting him. This shows their double standards, he said.

Naveen Patnaik slams Odisha Supplementary Budget

BHUBANESWAR

The day after Odisha Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi presented the Rs 17,440 crore Supplementary Budget for the financial year 2025-2026 in the state Assembly, Leader of the Opposition and Biju Janata Dal chief Naveen Patnaik on Saturday launched a scathing attack on the government, stating the Budget has shattered the expectations of the state's populace.

Patnaik, through a social media post, asserted that the new Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) government's first Supplementary Budget lacks any major infrastructure initiative or long-term vision and is disappointing to citizens hoping for significant progress in the first full year of office.

The former Chief Minister alleged that the fiscal document pushes Odisha further towards a fiscal deficit trap, even as administrative expenditure shrinks and the state's debt burden continues its upward trend.

Except for allocations to the Works Department (Rs 900 crore) and a few urban infrastructure projects, there is nothing substantial in this budget, he said in the post.

Patnaik further claimed the government tabled the Supplementary Budget merely to hide the declining Central assistance and its own inefficiency, adding, This Supplementary Budget is not in the interest of the people of Odisha, and it is merely an additional effort to mislead them.

Chief Minister Majhi, who also holds the finance portfolio, presented the Rs 17,440 crore Supplementary Budget in the state Assembly on Friday.

The total provision includes Rs 3,389 crore for administrative expenditure, covering Rs 1,406 crore for government debt repayment and Rs 250 crore for the maintenance of roads and bridges.

The government earmarked Rs 13,716 crore for expenditure on various government programmes and priority sectors. Key allocations under the programme expenditure include Rs 3,000 crore for the revolving fund for paddy procurement and Rs 1,325 crore towards subsidy under the Public Distribution System (PDS).

SARANG MOCKS CONGRESS

Min mocks Congress after party scraps organisational appointments

BHOPAL

Madhya Pradesh Sports and Youth Welfare Minister Vishwas Sarang on Saturday took a swipe at the Congress following an internal conflict that prompted the party's Central leadership to cancel multiple recent organisational appointments in the state. The move has exposed deepening rifts within the Madhya Pradesh Congress unit.

AICC state in-charge Harish Chaudhary on Friday annulled all appointments of district and city organisation secretaries made by Pradesh Congress Committee (PCC) president Jitu Patwari. The decision was conveyed during a meeting of the Political Affairs Committee (PAC) after objections were raised by several party leaders.

Reacting to the development, Sarang, a senior BJP leader and MLA from Bhopal's Narela constituency, questioned the authority of the Congress leadership. Rahul Gandhi's Congress doesn't respect even Mallikarjun Kharge (AICC president). Then what value does the state president Jitu Patwari have? he told reporters. He accused the Congress of steadily losing political relevance in Madhya Pradesh and across India due to what he described as a lack of internal democracy.

There are no democratic values left in the party. Rifts among senior leaders have always existed, which is why they have remained in Opposition for 20 years, Sarang added, sharpening his criticism.

In a strongly worded letter addressed to Patwari, Chaudhary expressed displeasure over the unilateral appointments, noting they were made without his prior approval despite his role as the AICC-appointed in-charge for Madhya Pradesh. He reiterated that no organisational appointments should be made without my approval, asserting his authority over state-level decisions.

Sources within the Congress said Chaudhary had previously issued similar directives, emphasising that final decision-making power over organisational positions in the state rests with the AICC in-charge. The episode has once again highlighted ongoing power struggles within the party's state leadership.

National Investigation Agency charge sheets 1 more accused in Maoism revival case

NEW DELHI

The arrested accused, Vishal Singh alias Suraj, a resident of Mathura (UP), has been charge sheeted under section 121A of IPC and sections 18,20, 38 & 39 of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act. He also conducted cadre meetings with senior CPI (Maoist) leaders Pramod Mishra alias Sohan Da and Sandeep Yadav alias Rupesh Ji, CC member of Bihar Jharkhand Special Area Committee (BJSAC) of CPI(Maoist).

Russian overnight attack on Ukraine kills three

Kyiv

A vast Russian overnight attack on Ukraine killed three people and wounded nearly 30, officials said on Saturday, with more than 600,000 households left without power after strikes on the grid as the U.S. attempts to broker peace talks. While everyone is discussing points of peace plans, Russia continues to pursue its 'war plan' of two points: to kill and destroy, Ukraine's foreign minister Andrii Sybiha wrote on Saturday morning as Kyiv residents surveyed the damage after a heavy night of explosions that mostly targeted the capital.

Indonesia flood death toll climbs to 303

Jakarta

The death toll from floods and landslides following cyclonic rains in the Indonesian island of Sumatra has risen to 303, the head of the country's disaster mitigation agency said on Saturday, up from a previous figure of 174 dead. Large parts of Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand have been stricken by cyclone-fuelled torrential rain for a week, with a rare tropical storm forming in the Malacca Strait. At least 279 people are still missing even as about 80,000 people have been evacuated and hundreds are still stranded in three provinces across Sumatra island, Indonesia's westernmost area, head of the agency Suharyanto told journalists.

HK mourns victims of blaze as search for remains continues

Hong Kong authorities reported no additional remains found as investigations widen into the deadly Wang Fuk Court residential fire

HONG KONG

Hong Kong mourned the 128 confirmed deaths caused by the massive fire at the Wang Fuk Court high-rise complex, though the toll may rise as 150 residents remain unaccounted for several days after the disaster. Authorities have arrested 11 people in connection with the blaze, investigating potential corruption and the use of unsafe materials during renovations.

Rescue operations in Tai Po, near the mainland China border, officially concluded on Friday, though police warned that searches through the damaged buildings could continue for weeks. The number of missing people was revised from 200 to 150 after some families reconnected with relatives previously reported missing. During searches, no additional bodies were found, though three cats and a turtle were rescued.

The fire, which started Wednesday afternoon, engulfed seven of the eight 32-storey buildings, aided by bamboo scaffolding, green mesh, and foam insulation used in renovations. Fire alarms in the complex were reportedly non-functional. Families and mourners gathered near Wang Fuk Court to lay flowers and identify victims using photographs provided by rescue teams.

The tragedy affected domestic workers from Indonesia and the Philippines, with six Indonesian citizens confirmed dead, and one Filipino critically injured. Survivors recounted harrowing experiences, including being trapped in smoke-filled rooms.

The blaze is Hong Kong's deadliest since 1948 and has drawn comparisons to London's Grenfell Tower fire. Residents had previously raised concerns about fire hazards related to renovation materials. Authorities have arrested construction company personnel and consultants on suspicion of manslaughter for using flammable materials.

While public anger has been relatively muted compared to earlier protests, volunteers and activists are calling for government accountability, independent investigations, and improved construction oversight to prevent such tragedies in the future.

Death toll in SL climbs to 123, rescue efforts intensify

COLOMBO

Sri Lanka continues to struggle with the severe aftermath of Cyclone Ditwah, as the Disaster Management Centre (DMC) confirmed that the death toll has climbed to 123 over the past few days, according to local media reports on Saturday. Authorities have also stated that 130 people remain missing, with rescue and relief operations ongoing, as reported by the Daily Mirror.

The Kandy District has recorded the highest number of casualties, reporting 51 deaths, while 67 individuals are still unaccounted for. In Badulla District, 35 deaths have been confirmed, with 27 people reported missing.

Other regions severely affected include Kegalle with nine deaths, Matale with eight, Nuwara Eliya with six, and Ampara with five.

The DMC said the destruction caused by Cyclone Ditwah has deeply affected communities across the country. A total of 373,428 people from 102,877 families have been impacted by floods, landslides, and powerful winds.

Residents in low-lying parts of the Maha Oya valley have been urgently advised to exercise extreme caution, as authorities warn of a potentially high-risk flood situation of a severity not experienced in recent times in the area.

At least 40 people, including a foreign woman, were rescued from a bus that was swept away by floodwaters on the Kala Oya Bridge along the Anuradhapura–Puttalam road.

The bus, which had around 60 passengers on board, was forced to halt as rising waters pushed it off course, prompting passengers to climb onto the roof of a nearby house for safety.

Sri Lanka declares public emergency as weather crisis deepens

COLOMBO

Sri Lanka imposed an immediate public emergency as floods, landslides and cyclone aftermath continue to endanger thousands nationwide.

Sri Lankan President Anura Kumara Dissanayake on Saturday declared a State of Public Emergency with immediate effect under the Public Security Ordinance, as the country battles one of its worst weather-related disasters in recent years. The announcement comes amid relentless floods, landslides and widespread infrastructure damage affecting thousands across the island.

Local media quoted Minister Wasantha Samarasinghe as saying the Extraordinary Gazette was issued to ensure public safety and enable faster disaster response. He noted that almost every region of the country has been severely impacted by the adverse weather conditions, with emergency teams facing mounting challenges in rescue and relief operations.

Although Cyclone Ditwah has now moved away from Sri Lanka, its devastating impact continues. Authorities confirmed that power transmission systems damaged by the storm have yet to be fully restored. Officials cautioned that the disaster situation remains far from over, urging citizens to stay alert as recovery efforts continue.

Athula Karunanayake, Director General of the Meteorological Department, warned that the Western and Sabaragamuwa provinces may experience rainfall exceeding 50 mm, while other regions are also expected to face intermittent showers and thunderstorms. Residents in flood-hit areas have been strongly advised not to return to their homes until conditions improve.

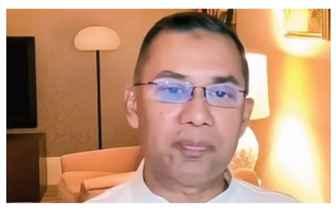
The Disaster Management Centre (DMC) reported that the national death toll from the extreme weather and cyclone-related incidents has risen to 123. Karunanayake further cautioned that wind speeds over land and surrounding seas could reach 60–70 km/h, prompting warnings against fishing and marine travel due to dangerous sea conditions.

Normal weather patterns are expected to gradually return by late Sunday, after which the full extent of Cyclone Ditwah's impact will be assessed.

BNP leader Tarique Rahman expresses desire to return home as mother Khaleda Zia's critical health raises nationwide concern.

Tarique Rahman longs to visit critically ill mother in B'desh

DHAKA



Bangladesh Nationalist Party's (BNP) acting chairman Tarique Rahman said on Saturday that he deeply wishes to return to Bangladesh to be by the side of his critically ill mother and party chief, Khaleda Zia. However, he stressed that the prevailing political circumstances make it impossible for him to travel home at this moment.

Rahman shared an emotional message on his social media platform, urging people to continue praying for Khaleda Zia's recovery. He expressed hope that once the political climate stabilises, his prolonged wait to return to Bangladesh will finally come to an end. His remarks came as concern mounted nationwide regarding the deteriorating health of the former prime minister.

Local media in Dhaka reported on Saturday that Khaleda Zia's condition has worsened further. She remains under close and continuous monitoring in the Coronary Care Unit (CCU) of Evercare Hospital in the capital. Medical officials have reportedly intensified observation and treatment protocols as her health continues to fluctuate.

In such a moment of crisis, I, too, strongly long for my mother's affectionate touch, just like any child. But unlike others, I do not have the unrestricted freedom or sole authority to make that happen, Rahman wrote. He added that the matter involves complexities he cannot fully explain publicly due to its sensitivity. Our family remains hopeful that once the political situation reaches the expected stage, my long and anxious wait to return to my homeland will finally come to an end.

As news of Khaleda Zia's worsening condition spread, the premises of Evercare Hospital saw a steady influx of BNP leaders, activists and supporters throughout the day. Many gathered to express solidarity, offer prayers and seek updates about the health of the 78-year-old opposition leader.

South Korea to require new alcohol, nicotine warning labels

SEOUL

The government plans to introduce a new warning label system for alcoholic beverages that allows manufacturers to choose either a text warning or a pictogram starting next September, according to officials on Saturday. According to the health ministry, companies must newly include a drunk-driving warning on soju, beer and all other alcoholic products, but they may select one method of display -- either a written warning text or an illustrated pictogram -- under a revision to the enforcement rule of the National Health Promotion Act.

The changes aim to ensure consumers recognize the risks of alcohol consumption before drinking, according to officials.

The revised rules follow the legislative amendment to the National Health Promotion Act promulgated in March. To allow preparation time for the alcohol industry, the new labeling requirements will take effect on September 19, 2026.

Meanwhile, the government plans to amend tobacco-related laws to designate synthetic nicotine as a type of tobacco in order to regulate the product category seeing growing popularity among young smokers, according to officials.

The Ministry of Health and Welfare and the Ministry of Economy and Finance plan to push for a revision of the law to include synthetic nicotine in the definition of tobacco under the Tobacco Business Act, according to officials.

In South Korea, tobacco-related laws are mandated under the National Health Promotion Act, under the jurisdiction of the health ministry, and the Tobacco Business Act governed by the finance ministry. They stipulate a tobacco product is what is manufactured in a state suitable for smoking, sucking, inhaling steam, chewing or smelling, by using tobacco leaves as all or any part of the raw materials.

Airbus A320 software recall unlikely to affect S. Korea flights

SEOUL

Over 40 Airbus A320-series aircraft currently operating in South Korea are subject to a global software-related recall, but the issue is unlikely to trigger major flight delays or cancellations domestically, according to the transport ministry on Saturday. On Friday, Airbus issued a large-scale recall order of its A320 family of jets after identifying a software flaw capable of causing severe flight-safety issues, including unintended rapid descent.

According to the ministry, five Korean carriers -- Korean Air, Asiana Airlines, Air Busan, Air Seoul and Aero K -- operate a total of 80 A320-family jets. Of those, 42 units were subject to the recall measure.

The ministry said it relayed an emergency directive issued by the European Union Aviation Safety Agency (EASA) to global aviation authorities to ensure affected aircraft undergo immediate software replacement or modification before continuing operations to domestic airlines.

Yoo Kyung-su, director-general for aviation safety at the ministry, said the update takes less than an hour per aircraft, adding that about half of the affected jets had already been updated as of Friday and all updates would be completed by Sunday morning, Yonhap news agency reported.

An Asiana Airlines official said 17 of its 24 A320-series jets require the software fix, noting that all updates can be completed during regular ground time, with no impact on the flight schedule.

Meanwhile, Air travel is set to face disruptions this weekend as 6,000 Airbus A320 family aircraft have been grounded for a mandatory software update. Airlines worldwide are expected to complete the upgrade by early next week.

Operations are expected to normalise by December 1 or 2. This global move comes after a safety investigation into a JetBlue flight incident that occurred on October 30.

ALBANESE WEDDING

Australian Prime Minister Albanese marries partner Jodie Haydon

SYDNEY

Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese married his partner Jodie Haydon in an intimate ceremony at The Lodge in Canberra on Saturday, marking the first time a sitting Australian leader has wed while in office. The couple described the occasion as a deeply personal celebration shared with close family and friends.

We are absolutely delighted to share our love and commitment to spending our future lives together, in front of our family and closest friends, Albanese and Haydon said in a joint statement. The Prime Minister later shared a short video of the ceremony on X, captioned simply, Married.

The event was attended by several senior government leaders, including ministers Penny Wong, Mark Butler, Katy Gallagher, Don Farrell, Tony Burke, Richard Marles, Jim Chalmers, Tim Ayres and Jenny McAllister. New South Wales MPs John Graham and Jo Haylen were also present, underscoring the significance of the occasion within political circles.

Opposition Leader Sussan Ley extended warm congratulations, saying, Congratulations to Anthony and Jodie! I wish them every happiness as they continue building their lives together, as quoted by The Sydney Morning Herald.

The historic wedding caps a milestone year for Albanese, who led the Labour Party to a sweeping election victory earlier this year, securing a record 94 seats in the lower house. Throughout his political rise, Haydon has been a constant presence, accompanying him during the 2022 election campaign and again this May as Labour claimed a strong majority.

Albanese publicly expressed his gratitude to Haydon on election night, acknowledging the unexpected turn her life had taken. I am so grateful for your support, your friendship and your love, he said. You make me so happy, which matters… I look forward to living our lives together.

The wedding marks the Prime Minister's second marriage, following the end of his previous 19-year partnership.

IndiGo leads Airbus safety reset in India

New Delhi

India's largest airlines, IndiGo and Air India, are progressing with the mandatory Airbus A320-family safety reset, mandated by Airbus and EASA. IndiGo has completed updates on 160 of 200 aircraft, achieving 80% compliance, with engineering teams working overnight to avoid delays or cancellations. Air India has completed the reset on over 40% of its fleet, maintaining schedules but warning of minor delays. The large-scale reset ensures aircraft remain reliable and safe for all passengers.

SEBI Chief calls for stronger money awareness

NEW DELHI

SEBI Chairman Tuhin Kanta Pandey has stressed the growing need for financial literacy as more people make money choices through digital platforms. Speaking at a regional investor awareness seminar organised by the National Stock Exchange in Puducherry, he explained that understanding basic financial ideas is essential for people to safely save, invest, and protect their earnings in today's fast-changing financial world.

Pandey said SEBI will continue working on stronger investor protection by expanding its multilingual and multi-media awareness campaigns. He highlighted the success of initiatives like "SEBI vs SCAM" and said new state-level SEBI offices will help spread financial education more effectively at the ground level. According to him, these steps are important because financial decisions are becoming more closely linked to everyday life, and people must be able to make informed choices.

Pandey said SEBI will enhance investor protection through awareness campaigns, new state offices, and financial education to help people make informed everyday financial decisions.

Sharing insights from SEBI's Investor Survey 2025, Pandey said only 36 per cent of investors have a moderate or high understanding of the securities market. Meanwhile, 62 per cent depend on advice from friends, family members, or social media. He warned that simple awareness is not enough because investing without proper knowledge exposes people to unnecessary risks. He added that the gap between knowing and truly understanding shows why financial education must grow along with market participation.

Pandey also noted Puducherry's strong growth in investors, rising from 22,000 in 2014–15 to nearly 1.24 lakh today. He said the Union Territory's high literacy rate and strong per capita income give its people a good base to engage confidently with financial products.

Across India, there are over 21 crore demat accounts held by about 13.6 crore unique investors. Nearly one lakh new accounts are opened daily, and mutual fund assets have crossed ₹80 trillion—seven times higher than a decade ago.

Leaders praise India's strong quarterly growth

NEW DELHI

India's economy showed strong momentum in the September quarter, with new data revealing that real GDP grew by 8.2 per cent in Q2 of financial year 2025–26. Political leaders across parties reacted on Saturday, calling the results a major achievement and a sign that India is rising fast in the global economy.

Union Minister Kiren Rijiju said the latest numbers show "a remarkable GDP record" and reflect the country's strong economic performance. Uttar Pradesh Deputy Chief Minister Brajesh Pathak also welcomed the results, saying that India has made a "significant leap" under Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership. He noted that India has climbed from being the world's 11th largest economy in 2014 to the 4th today, and he believes the country is on track to reach 3rd place soon.

JD(U) leader Rajiv Ranjan Prasad called the growth "historic." He said that even though global trade faced many challenges, India still delivered stronger-than-expected numbers because of major reforms and supportive policies. Bihar Minister Ram Kripal Yadav said India's steady progress since 2014 proves that the government's decisions are helping the country grow while many nations face slowdowns.

However, Congress spokesperson Surendra Rajput said the growth must be felt in people's daily lives. He urged the government to show clear proof of lower unemployment, reduced inflation, higher production, and fair crop prices for farmers. He added that global groups and some Opposition leaders have raised questions about the credibility of India's data, and transparency is important.

According to an official statement, India is already the world's fourth largest economy and is expected to become the third largest by 2030 with a projected GDP of $7.3 trillion. The statement said India's rise is driven by structural reforms, strong decision-making, and deeper global integration.

The latest data shows that Q1 GDP grew 7.8 per cent, while Q2 saw 8.2 per cent growth. Every major sector contributed, with primary sector GVA at 3.1 per cent, secondary at 8.1 per cent, and services leading with 9.2 per cent.

India's coffee sector poised for strong growth

NEW DELHI

India's coffee industry is set for major expansion over the next few years, with new projections showing an annual growth rate of 8.9 per cent by 2028. An official statement released on Saturday said the out-of-home coffee market is expected to grow even faster, rising between 15 and 20 per cent each year to reach $2.6 billion to $3.2 billion by 2028.

The Coffee Board of India has set an ambitious target to increase national production to 9 lakh tonnes by 2047. At present, India produces around 3.6 lakh tonnes of coffee each year, and nearly 70 per cent of this is exported to 128 countries. The rise of well-known specialty varieties such as Monsooned Malabar, Mysore Nuggets and Koraput Coffee has helped India build a strong reputation as a supplier of high-quality beans in global markets.

The government said the success of tribal cooperatives, including the Tribal Development Co-operative Corporation of Odisha Ltd (TDCCOL), shows how coffee farming can support rural development and create stable livelihoods. Smallholder farmers make up almost 99 per cent of coffee growers in India and produce around 70 per cent of the nation's total output. This makes the crop an important part of the rural economy.

Recent GST cuts and free trade agreements, including the India–UK Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement, have widened opportunities for value-added coffee exports. India's coffee exports have crossed $1 billion for four straight years, reaching a record $1.8 billion in FY25—40 per cent higher than the previous year. Between April and September 2025, exports touched $1.07 billion, marking a 15.5 per cent jump from the same period in 2024.

The GST reduction from 18 per cent to 5 per cent on coffee extracts and essences is expected to bring retail prices down by up to 12 per cent, boost domestic demand and improve earnings for small processors.

Analysts noted global conditions eased inflation worries, but Nifty Midcap100 and Smallcap100 fell 0.11% and 0.10%, respectively, as broader markets lagged

Markets rise again on strong earnings momentum

MUMBAI

Indian stock markets recorded gains for the third straight week, supported by strong Q2 earnings, steady domestic inflows, and positive global signals. The Nifty rose 0.34 per cent to close at 26,202, while the Sensex climbed 0.52 per cent to finish at 85,706.

Analysts said global conditions remained favourable, with softer US bond yields, fresh hopes of an upcoming Federal Reserve rate cut, and stable crude oil prices helping ease inflation worries. However, broader markets did not keep pace. The Nifty Midcap100 slipped 0.11 per cent, while the Smallcap100 fell 0.10 per cent during the week.

Sector-wise, pharma, PSU banks, media and IT stocks led the uptrend. Realty, consumer durables, and oil & gas counters showed weakness. The week saw sharp swings in the indices as investors navigated phases of volatility, resilience, and profit booking. Nifty briefly touched 25,842 before rebounding to an intra-day high of 26,310 on the final trading day.

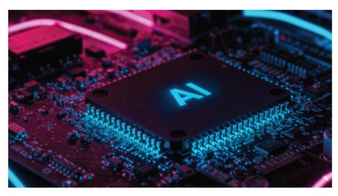
According to Bharat K. Gala, President and Technical Head at Ventura, traders should watch the support zone between 25,851 and 25,566. A fall below these levels could push the index to 25,337, and possibly further towards the 25,107–24,780 range.

Experts said India's stronger-than-expected Q2 GDP data — driven by firm manufacturing output, active construction activity and healthy consumer spending — is likely to support market sentiment in the near term. With faster GDP growth and improving credit expansion providing a strong base for earnings in the second half of the year, the medium-term outlook stays optimistic.

Next week, investors will track key macroeconomic indicators, including India and US PMI data, US core PCE inflation numbers, and the Reserve Bank of India's policy decision.



Micron plans massive Japan investment for AI chips

TOKYO

U.S. chipmaker Micron Technology is set to invest 1.5 trillion yen (about $9.6 billion) to build a new memory chip plant in Hiroshima, according to a report by Nikkei. The facility will focus on producing advanced high-bandwidth memory (HBM) chips, which are in high demand due to the rapid growth of artificial intelligence and expanding data centre needs.

The company is expected to begin construction at its existing Hiroshima site in May next year, with shipments likely to start around 2028. Japan's Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry is reportedly planning to offer up to 500 billion yen in support, reflecting Japan's push to revive its semiconductor industry.

In recent years, Japan has been providing major subsidies to attract global chipmakers such as Micron and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (TSMC). The government is also partnering with IBM to support the construction of a new plant that will mass-produce advanced logic chips.

Micron's expansion in Hiroshima is seen as a strategic move to diversify production away from Taiwan and strengthen its position against major competitor SK Hynix, currently the market leader in HBM technology. As AI-driven hardware demand continues to surge worldwide, this new plant is expected to play a key role in the global semiconductor supply chain.

Tariff surge deeply hurts India's United States exports

NEW DELHI

India's exports to the United States, its biggest export market, have suffered a sharp setback due to steep tariff hikes introduced by Washington this year. A new report from the Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) shows that Indian shipments fell 28.5 per cent between May and October 2025, dropping from USD 8.83 billion to USD 6.31 billion.

The decline follows a rapid escalation in US duties—starting at 10 per cent in April, rising to 25 per cent in early August, and then doubling to 50 per cent later that month. This made Indian products some of the most heavily taxed in the US market, with tariffs even higher than those imposed on China, which faced around 30 per cent, while Japan faced 15 per cent.

According to GTRI, India's exports fell across all three major tariff categories. Tariff-exempt sectors like smartphones, medicines and petroleum products made up 40.3 per cent of October shipments but still fell 25.8 per cent overall. Products under global uniform tariffs, mainly metals and auto parts, slid 23.8 per cent. The steepest drop came in labour-intensive categories facing the new 50 per cent duty—gems and jewellery, solar panels, textiles, chemicals and seafood—all falling 31.2 per cent.

Smartphone exports alone plunged 36 per cent, losing nearly USD 790 million in five months. Other major items like petroleum products declined 15.5 per cent, while pharma shipments saw only a minor 1.6 per cent dip.

GTRI said the situation is worsened by delays in India's new Export Promotion Mission (EPM), approved earlier this month but still not operational. With older export support schemes stalled and yearly funds limited, the think tank urged the government to quickly issue guidelines and restart payments. It also called for pressing the US to withdraw the extra 25 per cent Russia-related tariff, which would cut India's total tariff burden to 25 per cent.

GTRI said these steps are crucial to help exporters recover competitiveness and re-balance trade talks with the US.

Gold prices rise strongly on fed cut hopes

NEW DELHI

Gold prices recorded a sharp weekly rise as stronger expectations of a US Federal Reserve rate cut boosted safe-haven demand. The price of 24-carat gold (10 grams) increased by Rs 1,324 during the week, closing at Rs 1,26,666 — up from Rs 1,25,342, according to the India Bullion and Jewellers Association (IBJA).

Market watchers said the latest surge followed a jump in rate-cut expectations. The CME FedWatch Tool now shows an 86.9 per cent probability that the US Fed will reduce rates by 350 to 375 basis points at its December meeting, compared with 71 per cent a week earlier. Traders believe lower interest rates typically make gold more attractive by reducing the appeal of interest-bearing assets.

Internationally, analysts noted that gold has once again tested resistance between $4,215 and $4,240. They said a strong upward trigger is needed to break above $4,240, which could open the path toward the previous record high of $4,400 (Rs 1,31,500). On the downside, a fall could push prices back towards $4,100 (Rs 1,23,000).

Gold prices dipped slightly on Friday after the US government shutdown ended, easing fears of economic disruption. Analysts added that gold currently has support in the Rs 1,25,750–1,24,980 range and resistance near Rs 1,27,750–1,28,400. Silver also shows support between Rs 1,60,950 and Rs 1,59,400 per kg, with resistance at Rs 1,63,850–1,64,900.

Experts expect near-term softness in bullion unless safe-haven buying picks up again or the Federal Reserve signals a clearer policy shift. Bank of America recently projected that gold could touch $5,000, citing factors like high government debt, persistent inflation, lower interest rates and unconventional US economic policies. The bank also pointed to light institutional buying, slowing Chinese demand, global metal shortages and low inventories as key trends to watch.

MONETARY MOVE AHEAD

RBI faces crucial decision on repo rate

NEW DELHI

India is entering an important moment as the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) prepares for its next monetary policy meeting. The discussion comes at a time when the economy is doing very well, with strong GDP growth and the lowest inflation ever recorded in the current Consumer Price Index series.

Latest data shows India's real GDP grew by 8.2 per cent in the second quarter of FY 2025-26, compared to 5.6 per cent in the same quarter last year. Inflation in October dropped sharply to just 0.25 per cent, showing that prices are stable and the economy remains healthy. This rare mix of high growth and very low inflation has led many to wonder if the RBI might cut the repo rate again.

Some economists believe the current rate is already at a fair level. They point out that future inflation may stay around 4 per cent, which gives a real repo rate of about 1 to 1.5 per cent. Because of this, they feel there may be no need for a rate cut right now. However, they agree that the RBI may consider Open Market Operations to support liquidity in December, when advance tax payments could drain the system.

RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra has said there is room for a rate cut due to the positive economic situation. He stressed that the central bank aims to balance price stability with growth, without being either aggressive or defensive. The RBI kept the repo rate unchanged in the August and October meetings after reducing it by 100 basis points earlier in the year.

Global firm Morgan Stanley expects the RBI to cut the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.25 per cent, with future decisions likely to depend on new economic data.

TRIUMPHANT DAUGHTERS

YOU GIRLS JUST MADE US SOAR HIGH!

Since the turn of the millennium, the Indian sports arena has seen a gigantic surge in the number of female athletes shining on the world stage, a much-needed exit from the shadows they have been left behind for generations.

The landscape of Indian sports has undergone a revolutionary change in recent years, and the main protagonists of this change are 'Daughters of India'. Today, from Harmanpreet Kaur and Shefali Verma to PV Sindhu, Saikhom Mirabai Chanu, and Lovlina Borgohain, women athletes have not only waved India's parachute on the international stage, but also become a source of inspiration for millions of young girls. It would not be an exaggeration to say that Indian sports are going through a "happy period", the brilliance of which has been enhanced by the unprecedented success of female players.

A new chapter of achievements

Cricket: The recent success of the Indian women's cricket team, which includes big titles like World Cup (such as winning ODI and T20 World Cup in 2025), has taken female cricket to new heights. These victories have created a new passion for women's cricket in the country.

Olympics: The journey that started with Karnam Malleshwari winning a bronze medal at the Sydney Olympics 2000 has now become a strong current. PV Sindhu (Badminton), Mary Com (Boxing), Sakshi Malik and Mirabai Chanu have proven that Indian women are fully prepared for world class competition by winning medals in consecutive Olympics and World Championships.

Other sports: The performance of women teams and individual players, such as the hockey team or Hima Das under Rani Rampal's captaincy, has also been commendable in sports like Kabaddi, Hockey, Shooting and Athletics.

Golden successes on world map

Indian daughters have left their mark in almost every game. Nikhat Zarin and Lovelina Borgohen (boxing); PV Sindhu and Saina Nehwal (badminton); Mirabai Chanu (weightlifting); Vinesh Phogat and Sakshi Malik (wrestling); Hima Das and Jyoti Yaraji (athletics), and many other achievers, who brought laurels to the country, thereby helping raise the tricolor high above all. Our young players in hockey and cricket have proved through medals and performance that talent does not depend on gender.

Strength from challenges

This happy round did not come like this. Most of these female players have faced serious challenges such as poverty, social stereotypes and gender discrimination. Coming out of small towns and rural settings, where the game was often not considered suitable for girls, reaching the top from there is a result of their unbreakable enthusiasm, willpower and hard work. Despite social pressures, lack of resources, economic challenges and access to sports facilities, the daughters kept their dreams alive. With the strength of fitness, rigorous practice and mental stamina, they broke those boundaries that were once considered impossible for them.

Inspirational stories

Mary Com's struggle for boxing, Hima Das's rise from the paddy fields to make a splash on the track, and the stories of many other players show that facilities are no guarantee of success; it is willpower, hard work and courage that makes champions.

Policy, incentives and initiatives

The initiatives of the government and sports associations have also been an important factor in this happy period. Government schemes like 'Khelo India' have helped to identify and train talents at the grassroots level. Institutions like Hockey India are now providing better equipment and facilities to players, which has improved the level of training. The increase in prize money and honour has inspired women players to make a career in sports. The schemes like 'Khelo India', 'Target Olympic Podium Scheme' and 'Beti Bachao Beti Padhao' had a broad social impact. Under these government initiatives, the daughters of India have been receiving better training, nutrition and international exposure. The private sponsorships and league-based games have also opened new avenues for them.

Changed mentality on field

Today, girls are not just playing, but changing the language of play. They are setting a new standard of confidence, discipline and professional approach. Their aggressive and bold play in the field sends a message that it is no longer easy to push Indian women back.

The beginning of a new era

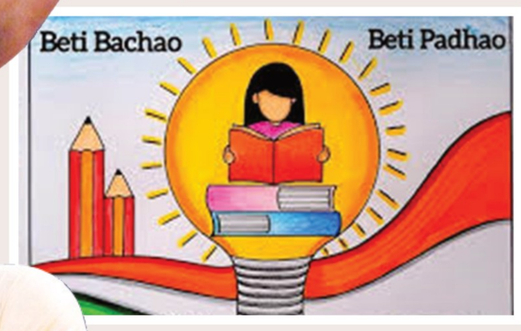
Gone are the days when games were considered a "second priority" for girls. Today they do not hesitate before choosing a career in sports, but move forward with determination. This change is the result of joint efforts of parents' thinking, government policies and strong will of players.

Role model player

Today, Indian daughters are not only winning medals, but have become an inspiration for the next generation. When girls from small towns and rural backgrounds become world champions, this message reaches every home.

Golden horizon of future

This joyful round for India is just the beginning. Better facilities, scientific training, attention to mental health and strong system of finding talent on the ground can make India a superpower of women's sports in the coming years.



THE PATH AHEAD...

The success of Indian daughters symbolizes a big movement for women empowerment in society. When a daughter waves the tricolor on the playground, she gives the message to the whole country, especially other girls, that it is possible to dream big and fulfill them. This round is not limited to the number of medals, but it is a period of change in mentality. Parents are now encouraging their daughters to get ahead in sports. The daughters of the country have proven that if they get equal opportunities and cooperation, they can become the best in any field. This happy round is only a beginning for India, and hopefully in the coming time our daughters will continue to establish unique records in every field of sports and torchbearers of the country's future and pride.

Malaysia and Netherlands begin with wins

Malaysia dominated Austria 5–1, with goals from Khairil, Osman, Johari, and Panicker, while Austria's lone reply came from Kaiser via a penalty corner

MADURAI

Malaysia and the Netherlands began their FIH Men's Junior World Cup journey with strong wins, showing confidence and control in their opening Pool E matches on Saturday.

In the first match of the day, Malaysia outplayed Austria with a clear 5-1 victory. The Malaysian team moved the ball smoothly and kept steady pressure on their opponents. Danish Khairil scored two quick field goals in the 56th and 57th minutes, adding power to Malaysia's lead. Harris Osman scored earlier in the 28th minute, followed by Adam Johari in the 47th minute. Naaveenesh Panicker added another in the 55th minute, completing Malaysia's impressive performance. Austria managed only one goal, which came from Julian Kaiser through a penalty corner in the 56th minute.

The Netherlands also started strong, beating England 5-3 in a fast and exciting match. Jan van't Land gave the Dutch team early momentum with a goal in the 2nd minute and another in the 49th minute. Casper van der Veen added a well-placed field goal in the 26th minute. Joppe Wolbert converted a penalty stroke in the 39th minute, and Danilo Trieling scored from a penalty corner in the 54th minute. England fought hard and scored through Kaden Draysey, Michael Royden, and George Fletcher, but their efforts were not enough to stop the Dutch attack. More action was expected later in the tournament, with Canada facing defending champions Germany in a Pool A match, while Egypt was set to play Namibia in Pool D. The opening day set an energetic tone, promising an exciting tournament ahead.

Indians shine at Spain golf tournament

MALAGA

Avani Prashanth shot a 3-under 69 to reach 4-under and tied 17th; Pranavi, Hitaashee, and Diksha struggled, finishing lower on the leaderboard.

Aditi Ashok stayed close to the top ten, while young golfer Avani Prashanth moved into the top twenty at the halfway stage of the Andalucia Costa del Sol Open de Espana. Aditi, a past champion who received an invitation to play this year, shot a steady 2-under 70. With this, she reached a total of 5-under 139 and finished the second round tied for 11th place.

Rookie Avani Prashanth produced the best second-round score among the Indians with a strong 3-under 69. Her round took her to 4-under overall, placing her tied at 17th. Among the other Indian players, Pranavi Urs carded a 71 and stood at 1-over, tied for 47th place. Hitaashee Bakshi and Diksha Dagar struggled with scores of 76 and 75 and ended tied at 64th with 5-over.

All three—Hitaashee, Pranavi, and Avani—recently earned top-five finishes at the Hero Women's Indian Open, and they now aim for a solid end to their season.

Thailand's Trichat Cheenglab delivered the highlight of the day by shooting a stunning course-record 63, finishing at 9-under for the round. She now leads the field by seven strokes with an impressive 15-under total after 36 holes. Cheenglab began strongly with three straight birdies and continued her excellent pace throughout the round, ending with three more birdies to secure the new record. Italy's Alessandra Fanali climbed to second place with a 6-under 66. French golfers Nastasia Nadaud and Celine Herbin shared third at 7-under. Six more players stood one shot behind at 6-under, including England's Mimi Rhodes and Singapore's Shannon Tan, who are both fighting for the 2025 LET Order of Merit title.

Gladbach hold strong to deny Leipzig win

BERLIN

Gladbach's solid defence and teamwork secured a 0-0 draw against RB Leipzig, extending their unbeaten run, while Leipzig missed chances and hit the crossbar in a tense Bundesliga battle.

Borussia Monchengladbach showed strong defence and steady teamwork to hold second-placed RB Leipzig to a 0-0 draw in a tight Bundesliga match. The result helped Gladbach extend their unbeaten league run to four games, while Leipzig missed a chance to close the gap on leaders Bayern.

Gladbach started brightly and tried to control the tempo, but both teams soon settled into a tough midfield battle. Clear chances were limited, and Leipzig's early efforts from David Raum and Antonio Nusa did little to trouble goalkeeper Moritz Nicolas. Gladbach's closest moment in the first half came when Florian Neuhaus and Jens Castrop got in each other's way while trying to finish from close range. Shortly after halftime, the home fans celebrated what they thought was the opening goal. Rocco Reitz lifted a smart pass to Franck Honorat, who scored calmly, but VAR ruled the effort out for a narrow offside. Gladbach pushed forward with quick counters and dangerous set pieces, with Kevin Diks heading just over the bar. Leipzig grew more urgent as the match wore on. Nicolas made key saves, including a sharp stop from Conrad Harder and another from a tight angle. There was brief tension when Shuto Machino fell in the box, but VAR showed defender Willi Orban made a clean tackle. Leipzig came closest to scoring when Raum smashed a shot onto the crossbar, but the ball bounced out. In the end, both teams settled for a point. Leipzig stayed second on 26 points, five behind Bayern, while Gladbach's unbeaten streak continued. Coaches Ole Werner and Eugen Polanski accepted the result for different reasons, with Werner wanting more precision and Polanski pleased with his team's resilience.

Khawaja's sharp pitch remark sparks big debate

Australian opener Usman Khawaja is likely to receive a formal notice from Cricket Australia after he bluntly criticised the Perth Stadium pitch used in the first Ashes Test. At a charity event earlier this week, Khawaja called the surface a "piece of st," a remark that surprised officials, especially because the match referee, Ranjan Madugalle, had rated the wicket as "very good," which is the highest rating the ICC allows.

Madugalle's report came after the Test finished inside two days. He explained that the pitch offered good carry, limited seam movement, and steady early bounce, creating what he believed was a fair balance between bat and ball. But Khawaja strongly disagreed. Speaking openly at the event, he pointed to the uneven bounce on Day 1, noting how 19 wickets fell quickly and how many batters were struck by rising balls. He added that even Steve Smith, known for rarely mistiming shots, struggled to find the middle of the bat because of the unpredictable bounce. Khawaja said such up-and-down movement makes batting extremely difficult, comparing it to sideways movement, which he felt is easier to handle. He also mentioned that the Perth pitch has shown similar problems in recent years. However, he admitted the surface usually improves after Day 1.

Iran to boycott final draw after US visa denial

TEHRAN

Iran's Football Federation has announced that it will boycott the final draw ceremony for the 2026 FIFA World Cup after the United States refused to issue visas to several senior members of its delegation. The draw is scheduled to take place on December 5 in Washington, D.C.

Federation spokesman Amir Mehdi Alavi said on state-run IRIB TV that the decision came after internal discussions and consultations with Iran's Ministry of Sports and Youth as well as the Foreign Ministry. He called the U.S. action "non-sporting" and said that the refusal made it impossible for Iran to attend the ceremony.

Alavi added that FIFA, including President Gianni Infantino, has been formally informed. According to him, FIFA has promised to look into the matter seriously. Local reports said that the visa denial affected important figures, including federation President Mehdi Taj. However, four members of the delegation, including national team head coach Amir Ghalenoei, did receive visas.

The 2026 World Cup will be the first edition featuring 48 teams and will be jointly hosted by the United States, Canada, and Mexico from June 11 to July 19. A total of 16 stadiums will host matches, including 11 in the United States, three in Mexico, and two in Canada.

For the tournament, the draw will divide the 48 teams into 12 groups of four. The top two teams from each group, along with the eight best third-place teams, will enter an expanded knockout stage, creating a larger competition format than before.

Iran has already qualified for the event, marking its fourth straight World Cup and seventh overall, highlighting the nation's steady growth in Asian football.

INDIA faces tough choices before opening ODI

RANCHI

India will face South Africa in the first ODI of the three-match series on Sunday (today), but the team enters the contest with several tough selection decisions. The match is especially important for senior stars Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli, who now focus mainly on the 50-over format. For Rohit, Ranchi carries special significance because this is where he first became a full-time opener in 2013. India will be without Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Siraj, Shubman Gill and Shreyas Iyer. Captaincy duties fall back to KL Rahul because Gill is recovering from a neck injury. His absence creates a big opening at the top of the order, and the team must choose between Yashasvi Jaiswal and Ruturaj Gaikwad. Jaiswal brings fearless stroke play and left-handed strength, while Gaikwad returns after 16 months with strong recent form from the South Africa A tour. Their competition may shape India's long-term plan as they look ahead to the next ODI World Cup. South Africa arrives confident after a strong Test series win. Young fast bowlers Gerald Coetzee and Nandre Burger are set to lead the pace attack, with experienced spinner Keshav Maharaj offering control. The visitors have quickly become a major threat on this tour. For India, this ODI series is a chance to recover after a 0-2 Test loss and to rebuild momentum. Rohit and Kohli also look to make meaningful contributions with only six ODIs scheduled in the coming months. The first ODI will be played at the JSCA International Stadium in Ranchi at 1:30 PM IST, with live coverage on Star Sports and JioHotstar. Both teams aim to start strong as the white-ball phase of the tour begins and new opportunities emerge for young Indian players hoping to secure their future roles.

MACARIO LEADS UNITED STATES TO CONFIDENT WIN

ORLANDO

The United States women's team earned a strong 3-0 win over Italy in the first of two friendly matches on Saturday night at Inter&Co Stadium. Cat Macario was the star of the match, scoring twice, while Olivia Moultrie added another goal in a confident team performance. Goalkeeper Claudia Dickey also kept a clean sheet in just her fifth senior match. The United States started fast, scoring within the first two minutes. Fresh from winning the NWSL title with Gotham, Lilly Reale began a smooth passing move involving Rose Lavelle and Alyssa Thompson. The ball reached Moultrie, who finished calmly for her second goal in only her second appearance. The team's quick start reflected their plan to attack early and maintain strong pressure. Moultrie nearly scored again early in the second half, but her goal was ruled out for offside. Still, the United States kept control and continued to create chances. Their hard work paid off again in the 64th minute, when Sam Coffey carried the ball through midfield and passed to Macario. She struck a neat shot into the far corner to double the lead.

Ben Foster hails Sydney Sweeney's powerful commitment to 'Christy' role

Actor Ben Foster has praised his Christy co-star Sydney Sweeney, calling her a powerhouse for the dedication and discipline she brought to the sports drama based on the life of boxer Christy Martin. Sweeney plays the boxing champion, while Foster portrays James V. Martin, her coach who later became her husband.

Foster said Sweeney handled her rising fame incredibly well and impressed everyone on set with her preparation. He said she arrived fully ready for each scene, knew everyone's names, and kept training even after long shooting hours. I'd be exhausted at the end of the day, and she'd go train for another three hours to fight the next morning, he said.

Foster added that he admired Sweeney's skillful use of social media, something he stays away from. He explained that while he has never used any platform, Sweeney understands its importance for the new generation. She plays in that field. It's so important to the future. I find her incredibly impressive, he noted.

Recently, Sweeney shared that she relates personally to her character because she struggles to ask for help in real life. She said she often avoids reaching out because she fears being seen as weak, the actress explained that women frequently face expectations to appear strong at all times. She added that asking for help often attracts unfair judgment toward women, especially in leadership roles, unlike men, who are rarely labelled as unprepared.

Christy continues to draw attention for its emotional depth and strong performances from its lead cast.

Pankaj Tripathi Reduces Acting Work To Produce Meaningful Stories

Actor Pankaj Tripathi is preparing for a major change in his creative journey as he plans to shift his focus from acting to producing thoughtful and meaningful stories. After years of working almost nonstop, Tripathi said he now wants to slow down and give more time to projects that come from the heart. Speaking over a phone call, he shared that the actor in him will now take a backseat as he explores new creative paths.

Tripathi said he has been working nearly 300 days a year, but now aims to limit his acting work to around 100–150 days. The rest of his time, he said, will be devoted to producing plays, creating new projects, and pursuing other hobbies he had long set aside. He believes this change will help him grow as an artist and allow him to support stories he truly cares about.

His new chapter has already begun. Last week, his first theatrical production Lailaaj opened in Mumbai. His debut web series as a producer, Perfect Family, was released on YouTube on November 28. He said he hopes to produce a feature film in the next couple of years, adding that filmmaking is expensive but meaningful storytelling remains his priority, not profit.

Perfect Family follows a family seeking therapy after one member faces an anxiety attack. Tripathi said the show highlights the importance of mental health, especially in small towns where people often ignore emotional struggles. He also admitted he once dismissed therapy but now recognises its value and believes it should be normalised like any common illness. Tripathi says this new phase will help him bring heartfelt stories to both stage and screen.

AKHANDA TWO Cleared For Release With Long Runtime

Sources in the film industry say that the Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC) has cleared director Boyapati Sreenu's much-awaited action entertainer Akhanda 2: Thaandavam, starring Nandamuri Balakrishna. Although no official announcement has been made yet, the film is said to have a runtime of 166 minutes, which is 2 hours and 44 minutes. The movie is scheduled for a worldwide release on December 5.

The update comes soon after production house 14 Reels Plus released a new teaser on its X page. Along with the teaser link, the team said that every frame reflects divine fury. The teaser shows India's enemies planning attacks, and Balakrishna appearing as a fierce sadhu. In his powerful style, he says, Where there is a bad, parallely, there is a God! Be brave. Akhanda 2: Thaandavam is produced on a large scale by Raam Achanta and Gopichand Achanta under the 14 Reels Plus banner, and presented by M. Tejaswini Nandamuri. Composer Says Delhi Crime Three Expanded His Creative Limits

Hollywood music composer Ceiri Torjussen says working on the background score for the third season of the acclaimed series Delhi Crime helped him explore new creative ideas and pushed him to try unfamiliar methods. The six-episode season, released on November 13, is directed by Tanuj Chopra and stars Shefali Shah, Rajesh Tailang, and Rasika Dugal.

Torjussen said the response to the music has been astonishing and far stronger than he expected. He explained that his goal this season was not only to build tension but also to bring out the deep human cost behind the crimes shown in the story. According to him, the real challenge was finding the right balance between the cruelty of the criminals and the strength, pain, and vulnerability of the young girls affected by them. If the music makes viewers feel both fear and empathy at the same time, Torjussen believes he has succeeded.

The composer praised director Tanuj Chopra, saying they share a strong creative understanding. He added that they have worked together on a few projects before Delhi Crime, which helped them communicate openly from the start. Torjussen said Chopra gave him the freedom to experiment, try new ideas, and find different ways of shaping the sound of each scene.

He also said the process allowed him to react naturally to the script and later adjust the score as the editing continued. Finding a mix of realism, suspense, and emotional relief became his main focus for every episode. Torjussen said this season pushed him creatively, and he is grateful to Chopra for trusting his vision.
